

ANNEX A

The Mole Antonelliana, with 167,5 meters high, is known all over the world as the tallest masonry building in Europe. The monument silhouette used in "That's a Mole!" contest is limited to the profile that protrudes into the city skyline and it is traced from the Mole Antonelliana represented in the 2 €cents coin for graphic reasons.